The Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania is looking for an experienced Clinical Nurse Specialist for the MICU.

Description

The MICU is a 24 bed Beacon Unit comprised of autonomous nursing staff working in a uniquely collaborative environment to deliver cutting edge therapies with a patient and family centered focus. Patient populations seen here are pre and post solid organ and stem cell transplantation, end stage liver disease, hemodynamic instability, pulmonary disorders, and renal failure.

The Clinical Nurse Specialist is a clinical leader who’s position includes traditional components of patient care, consultation, research utilization and education with the dual aims of upholding practice of standards and contributing to the professional development of others. An important focus of the CNS is to understand the organization goals and work with clinical staff to implement practice initiatives/changes.

The CNS demonstrates a spirit of generosity and flexibility to meet patient-family and staff needs. The CNS also conveys a clinical presence that recognizes the multiple perspectives affecting the patient, family, health care providers and the delivery of care.
